SASKATCHEWAN RAISES AWARENESS OF LIVING ORGAN DONATION DURING ORGAN AND TISSUE AWARENESS MONTH

Saskatchewan is joining Canadians in recognizing National Organ and Tissue Donation Awareness Month (NOTDAM) in April with several activities as well as commemorating Green Shirt Day (GSD) on April 7 in honour of Logan Boulet, whose legacy inspired almost 150,000 people across Canada to register to become organ donors.

In addition to promotional and awareness campaigns, the Government of Saskatchewan has committed increased funding to support kidney health in Saskatchewan.

The 2024-25 budget includes an increase of over $2.5 million for kidney health and organ and tissue donation and transplant. This investment will support incremental positions within the St. Paul's Hospital and Cameco Community Renal Health Centre dialysis units, as well as the Regina and Saskatoon Organ Donation and Transplant Programs. In addition, support is being provided to implement a new electronic deceased donor management program for the provincial organ and tissue donation teams.

Heath Minister Everett Hindley and Members of the Legislative Assembly were pleased to tour the Kidney Health Unit and speak with organ and tissue donation and transplant as well as Kidney Health program surgeons and staff at St. Paul's Hospital.

"We celebrate the life-saving work of our organ transplant and donation physicians and health care teams by participating in activities that build awareness around organ and tissue donation and transplant," Health Minister Everett Hindley said. "Registering your intent to be an organ and tissue donor or living donor is a generous decision. We encourage everyone over the age of 16 to talk to their loved ones about their intentions to become a donor and join our provincial registry."

LEGISLATIVE REPORT

A strong economy means a bright future for our province and its people. The 2024-25 Provincial Budget makes record investments in classrooms, care and communities – which are only possible due to our strong and growing economy. That’s why our government is committed to making strategic investments that help our economy to continue to grow.

An essential part of growing our economy is expanding our markets and exports outside of Canada. This ultimately leads to more jobs at home and allows us to invest in classrooms, care and communities. That’s our reality as an export-based province.

With a budget of $40.6 million, the Ministry of Trade and Export Development is supporting Saskatchewan's economy by growing our presence in international markets. Leading the way will be Securing the Next Decade of Growth: Saskatchewan's Investment Attraction Strategy, which will help grow and maintain private capital investment in the province.

Equally important will be Saskatchewan's recently announced labour market strategy – Building the Workforce for a Growing Economy: the Saskatchewan Labour Market Strategy – which outlines how the province will ensure Saskatchewan people benefit from the jobs our economy is creating. The strategy also ensures that Saskatchewan employers have access to the workforce they need to succeed.

In February 2024, Statistics Canada announced that total capital investments in Saskatchewan increased by 25.9 per cent in 2023 to $17.1 billion – second among provinces in terms of percentage change. This is expected to increase by another 14.4 per cent in 2024 to $19.6 billion – again second among provinces in terms of growth.

As evidence of the growth of investments in Saskatchewan, private companies have committed to more than 60 large-scale investment projects across the province in recent years, totaling more than $39 million. These include projects in the agri-value, manufacturing and processing, mining, forestry and energy sectors.

Our government recognizes the contributions small businesses make to our economy. That's why the budget maintains the small business tax rate of one per cent until June 30, 2025. It was scheduled to return to two per cent in July 2024, but the extension of the existing one per cent rate will allow owners to re-invest in their operations.

The amount of eligible business income on which the small business tax rate applies will remain at $600,000 – the highest threshold in Canada. Saskatchewan will also continue to have the second-lowest small business tax rate in Canada, making the provincial tax environment very competitive.

Saskatchewan's strategic economic investments continue to pay off. Our exports to the world continue to grow, reaching $49.3 billion in 2023. Saskatchewan goods reached 163 countries, with 32 of those countries receiving over $100 million in provincial exports. Saskatchewan ranks first in Canada for per capita exports at $40,425, which is more than double the national average. The top exports were crude petroleum oil, potash, wheat, canola seeds and oil, lentils, uranium, dried peas and barley.

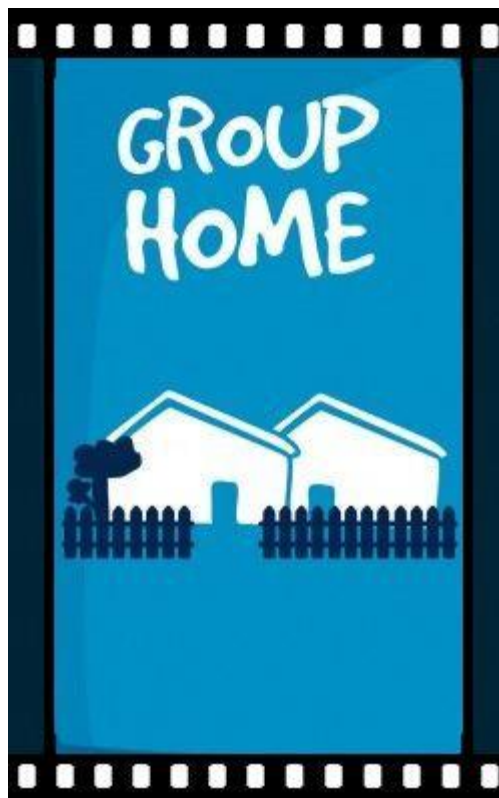

These trade numbers are a testament to the incredible work being done by our exporters, producers and industry leaders. The continuous work of Saskatchewan's network of nine international trade offices to showcase our story abroad is clearly having an impact on international markets.

Here at home, housing starts increased 12.1 per cent from March 2023 to March 2024. Construction investment totaled $235 million in February 2024, up 96.2 per cent from January – the highest growth among the provinces. This is also up 22.6 per cent from February 2023.

Our consumer price index here in Saskatchewan increased only 1.5 per cent from March 2024 to March 2023 – the second lowest increase in Canada and well below the national average of 2.9 per cent. This is largely due to our government's decision to remove the carbon tax from home heating, helping to keep life affordable for Saskatchewan people.

Our government remains committed to investing in Saskatchewan's key industries, ensuring economic growth continues. As we continue this work, I look forward to hearing your feedback. You can contact my constituency office at ken.cheveldayoff.mla@sasktel.net or call 306.651.7100.

THREE NEW GROUP HOMES FOR PERSONS WITH INTELLECTUAL DISABILITIES OPEN IN SASKATOON

Social Services Minister Gene Makowsky and representatives from Elmwood Residences Inc. celebrated the grand opening of three new group homes to provide care to 12 former residents of Kinsmen Manor who have transitioned into community-based living. The Ministry of Social Services is providing Elmwood Residences Inc. with approximately $1.78 million in annualized funding to operate these homes that are leased from Saskatchewan Housing Corporation.

The provincial government has announced that another two Elmwood group homes will be constructed in Saskatoon to accommodate the remaining eight residents of Kinsmen Manor. Today's announcement is part of the $7.6 million investment announced in the 2024-25 provincial budget to plan and construct 10 new group homes and one assessment and stabilization home to support adults with intellectual disabilities.

"Building strong, inclusive communities for people with disabilities remains a focus for our province," Social Services Minister Gene Makowsky said. "Community partners are essential to building accessible and welcoming communities where people with disabilities can live as independently as possible. The Government of Saskatchewan is proud to work alongside Elmwood Residences to support person-centred community living."

$42.6 Million

Over three years

54 Programs

To Address Violence and Abuse

Support Services

for Victims and Survivors

We are dedicating $42.6 million in funding over the next three years to address the critical and complex issue of interpersonal violence and abuse. There are 54 funded programs providing a wide range of support services to survivors of interpersonal violence and abuse including: family violence intervention programs, primary and second stage shelters for families escaping abuse, as well as sexual violence services and victim advocate case reviews.

Saskatchewan Provincial Budget | 2024-25
Classrooms, Care & Communities

$42.6 Million to Address Interpersonal Violence

Funding will go towards community-based service organizations and programs across the province that provide supports and services to individuals and their families impacted by the critical, complex issue of interpersonal violence and abuse.

This funding commitment ensures that victims don't have to face challenges alone. Last year, these organizations ensured that over 1,000 adults and 1,100 children had access to safe accommodation and resources to rebuild their lives. Over 900 people in communities across the province also received counselling and advocacy services, as well as support for housing, employment and education.

We are committed to working with our partners to stop violence and build safer communities for everyone.

MENTAL HEALTH CAPACITY BUILDING TO SUPPORT MORE SASKATCHEWAN STUDENTS

We're investing an additional $1 million this year, for a total of $3 million annually, to expand Mental Health Capacity Building in Saskatchewan schools.

"Mental health is a priority for our government, including for children and youth," McLeod said. "That is why we are adding five more schools to the Mental Health Capacity Building in Schools program this year, for a total of 15 schools now in the program."

RETAIL TRADE #2 IN THE NATION

Recently released StatsCan numbers show that Saskatchewan ranked #2 in the nation for both year-over-year and month-over-month retail trade.

Thanks to our strong and growing economy, complimented by retail trade, we are able to make the record investments in classrooms, care, and communities, ensuring Saskatchewan continues to thrive.

KIDSPORT MONTH KICKS OFF WITH VISIT TO THE LEGISLATURE

Parks, Culture and Sport, Minister Laura Ross, proclaimed May as KidSport Month in Saskatchewan. The month-long celebration of the children's charity, which will feature events, fundraisers and celebrations, will begin May 1.

"Organized sport and recreation provide so many benefits to our children's social, mental and physical wellbeing, and KidSport does an amazing job supporting children and youth across the province by increasing access for participation," Ross said. "In addition to the physical benefits, sport and recreation builds self-confidence, resilience, discipline and promotes the values of teamwork, inclusion and respect for others. The Government of Saskatchewan is proud to support KidSport in partnership with Sask Sport, with funding from Sask Lotteries."

SASKTCHEWAN RESIDENTS REMINDED TOTAKE PRECAUTIONS AGAINST HANTAVIRUS EXPOSURE

Saskatchewan residents are being reminded to take precautions against hantavirus as they start their spring cleanup.

Hantavirus infection is caused by breathing in contaminated airborne particles from the droppings, urine or saliva of infected deer mice. It can cause a rare, but potentially fatal lung disease known as hantavirus pulmonary syndrome.

"Exposure to hantavirus most often occurs when cleaning enclosed buildings, or equipment and vehicles after winter," Saskatchewan's Deputy Chief Medical Health Officer Dr. Julie Kryzanowski said. "Particles can become airborne after sweeping, but it's also possible to get the virus by touching something that has been contaminated, and then touching your nose, mouth or eyes."

VIOLENCE POLICIES REQUIRED IN ALL WORKPLACES

Help stop workplace violence

By May 17 All Workplaces Must Have A Violence Policy

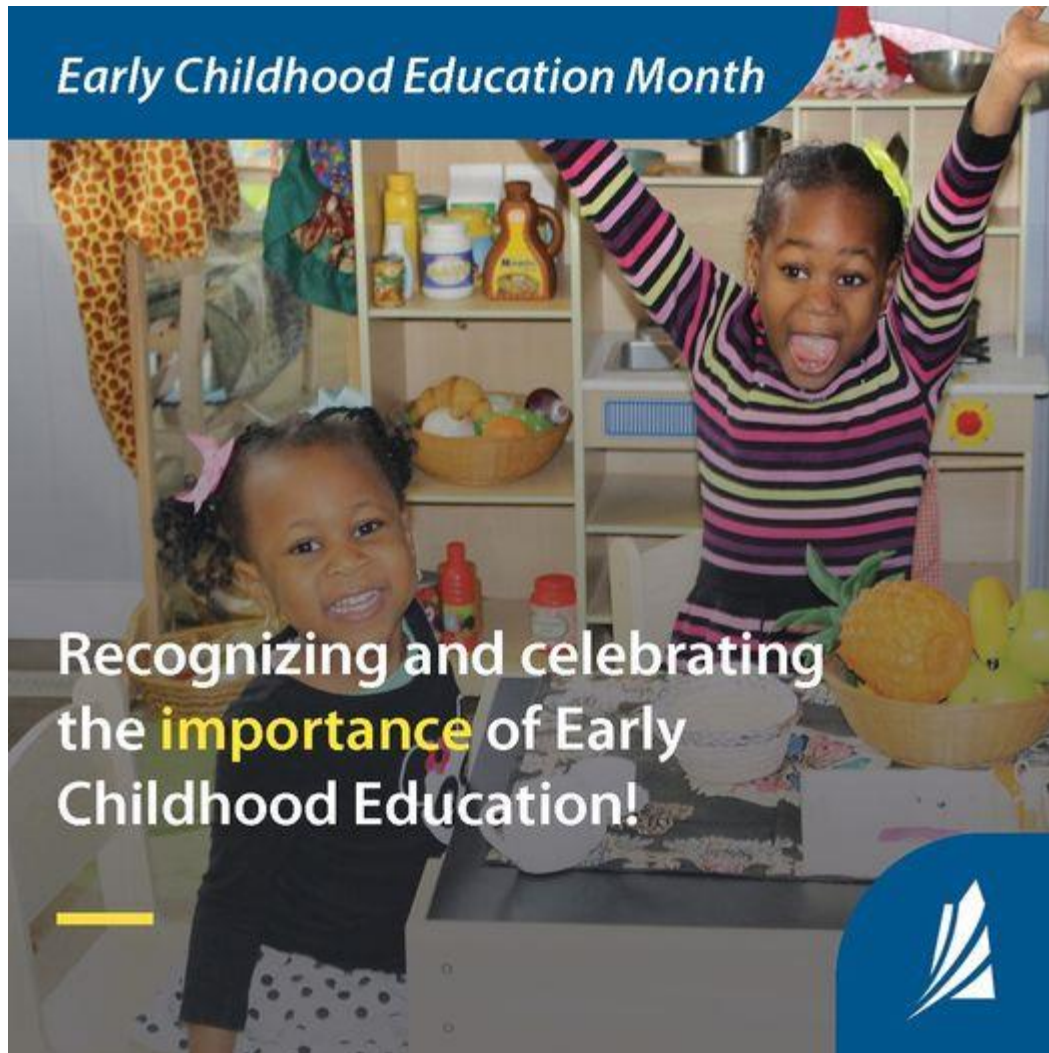

On May 17, 2024, amendments to the occupational health and safety provisions of The Saskatchewan Employment Act will come into force requiring all provincially regulated workplaces to have a violence policy and prevention plan in place.

"Everyone has the right to feel safe when they come to work," Labour Relations and Workplace Safety Minister Don McMorris said. "Having a violence policy and investigating all incidents is a step toward protecting workers from acts of violence."

The amendment also ensures that students and post-secondary students, volunteers and contract workers are covered under the provisions regarding violence.

CELEBRATING EARLY CHILDHOOD EDUCATION MONTH AND EARLY CHILDHOOD EDUCATOR APPRECIATION DAY

The Government of Saskatchewan has proclaimed the month of May as Early Childhood Education Month to acknowledge and thank early childhood educators (ECE) for their work in helping lay the educational foundation for Saskatchewan's youngest residents. May 8 has also been proclaimed as ECE Appreciation Day. The day recognizes the many Saskatchewan ECEs who play an important role in shaping children's wellbeing, development and learning in early years' settings.

"We recognize the value ECEs bring to the lives of the youngest learners in our province," Education Minister Jeremy Cockrill said. "ECEs help develop the skills our children need for their early childhood development and success in school and beyond."

The Government of Saskatchewan's 2024-25 provincial budget invests a record $380.6 million into regulated child care, an increase of $21.1 million compared to 2023-24. These investments include enhancing access to $10 per day child care spaces and initiatives to recruit and retain ECEs working in regulated child care. These include wage enhancements for certified ECEs of up to $7.50 per hour, tuition-free post-secondary education, bursaries and supports so individuals can take training.

WE WELCOME SPRING IN SASKATCHEWAN!

Being outside after a long, cold winter is great, but when it makes you itch, sneeze, or cough, it doesn't feel so good.

Tips for managing your allergies:

- 👁️ watch the pollen counts and stay indoors when they're highest, which is often in the afternoon
 - 🚪 keep the windows in your home and car closed, if possible
 - 👃 some people also find a quick rinse of their nose with salt water works well, but that can take a little getting used to
 - 🚿 after spending time outside, it can help to take a shower, change your clothes, and even rinse your eyes with water or saline drops
 - 💊 a pharmacist can also help you choose the right kind of medicine if symptoms become too much
- Managing allergy symptoms can make you feel a lot better but it can also take time to figure out what works best for you.

NOMINATIONS OPEN FOR THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR'S POST-SECONDARY TEACHING AWARD

The Government of Saskatchewan is now accepting nominations for the second annual Lieutenant Governor's Post-Secondary Teaching Award. This provincial award recognizes post-secondary educators who excel in teaching and demonstrate a commitment to delivering quality education.

"Every day our post-secondary educators provide opportunities for students to reach new heights, build resilience, and foster creativity and learning," Lieutenant Governor Russ Mirasty said. "I am inspired by their dedication to the students and to post-secondary teaching excellence."

Nominations from institutions will be accepted between May 1 and June 30, with recipients announced in November. To be eligible, nominees must be an active post-secondary educator, chair or department head while teaching a minimum of half a standard teaching load. They must demonstrate commitment to enhancing student engagement and learning, teaching practices and teaching improvement.

ADDICTIONS TREATMENT SPACES TO OPEN IN ONION LAKE CREE NATION

Legislative Secretary to the Minister of Health Alana Ross, on behalf of Mental Health and Addictions Minister Tim McLeod, today announced 15 new addictions treatment spaces at Onion Lake Cree Nation.

The new spaces will help adults access withdrawal management services and will be open to all Saskatchewan residents.

"We are pleased to work with Onion Lake Cree Nation to provide these new withdrawal management spaces for residents in Northern communities and across the province," Ross said. "These spaces are part of our province's commitment to add 500 addictions treatment spaces across the province, which is a key pillar of Saskatchewan's new Action Plan for Mental Health and Addictions."

EDWARDS EXECUTIVE EDUCATION IS MOVING

TO OUR NEW LOCATION IN SUMMER 2024:
#600, 340 3RD AVE NORTH, SASKATOON

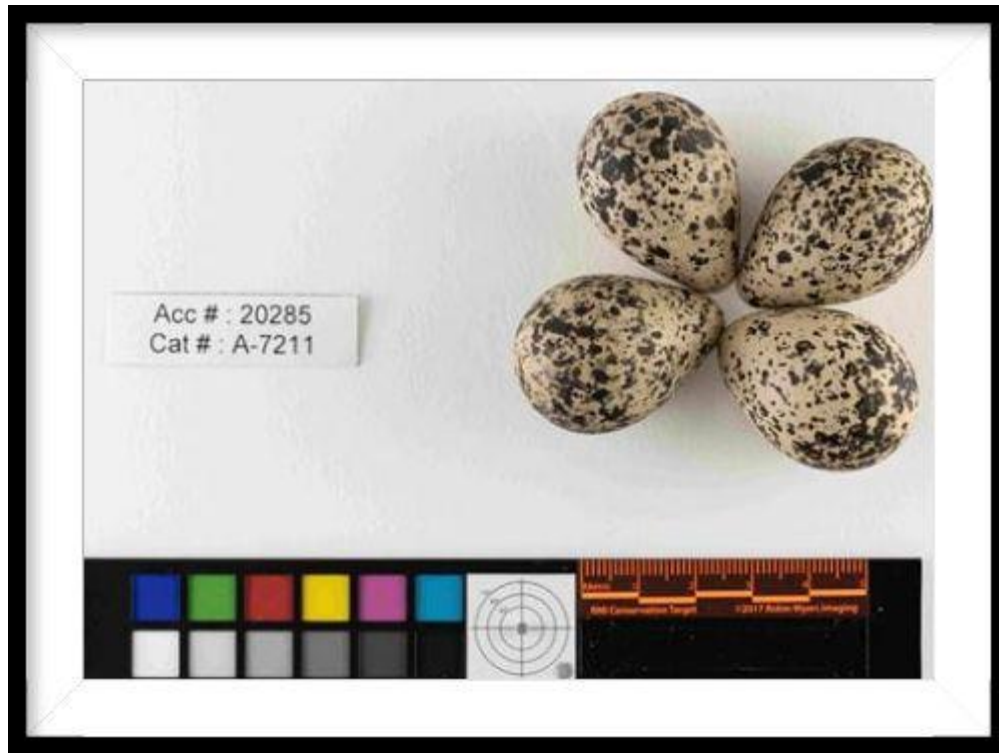

Edwards Executive Education, an off-campus site of the University of Saskatchewan (USask) Edwards School of Business, is relocating this summer.

Strategically located in the heart of downtown Saskatoon, the new facility will be located on the sixth floor of the T&T Towers at 340 3rd Ave North, replacing the current downtown space at the K.W. Nasser Centre.

The relocation enables Edwards to continue its mission of providing exceptional training, professional development, and custom-built courses while fostering a culture of innovation and collaboration.

"We are poised to be what the world needs in executive education," said Dr. Keith Willoughby (PhD), dean of the Edwards School of Business. "As Saskatchewan's leader in professional development training there's no better place to learn and innovate than with us. As we continue to expand our offerings, we look forward to shaping future leaders in this new space."

ROYAL SASKATCHEWAN MUSEUM LAUNCHES NEW ONLINE BIRD EGG DATABASE

Nature lovers and bird enthusiasts this spring will have a new digital tool to help identify bird species when they find a nest.

The Royal Saskatchewan Museum (RSM) has created an online database featuring bird egg photographs from more than 300 species that nest in Canada.

"The egg database is just one example of the innovative work taking place behind the scenes at the museum," Parks, Culture and Sport Minister Laura Ross said. "In addition to the amazing exhibits and educational programming available to the public, the Royal Saskatchewan Museum is known internationally for their excellence in research - scientists are always working on something new and exciting."
